We are sometimes very strongly impressed with the fact that we are pretty largely dependent beings and that nearly every move we make is a venture. To-day when we buy a piece of machinery, unless from past experience we have become well informed, we find a large assortment, all calculated to perform the same duties, that it becomes difficult to make a choice of the best, all things considered. Frequently, when we find machinery failing and giving out unexpectedly, we can only blame ourselves and profit by our mistakes. Prompt attention to a worn or broken part will usually save a world of work and worry.

Seward & Marshall have a reasonable word with respect to the care of machinery, which every one owning such may profit by. See their adv.

The long continued drouth, from the effects of which all kinds of vegetation had become scorched and withered, was broken Wednesday evening by a refreshing shower.

Governor McKinley of Ohio and Governor Rich of Michigan, accompanied by their families, are fellow passengers on the new steamer Northwest, bound for a trip up the lakes.

The new uniforms worn by the Michigan Central brakemen consist of knee pants, blouse and cap in gray, with black trimmings. The letters M.C.R.R. appear across the blouse.

Misses Nellie Hinn, Alice Sheldon, and Bessie McCarty of Kalamazoo, and Gertrude Mitchell, Pearl Haggart, and Merta Noyes are camping at Lake Park, chaperoned by Mrs. K. W. Noyes.

Anna Phalaski, a giddy maiden living at Bethel, Branch county, is accused of giving false information to the census enumerator, she claiming to be only 105 when she was actually 107 years old.

Mrs. Chan, F. Ochock (Edie Newell) of Chicago is home on a visit, and Chan will be here in a couple of weeks to spend his vacation in camping, fishing, visiting, and having a good time generally.

Paw Paw Grange has accepted an invitation from Waverly Grange to attend a basket picnic at School Section lake to-morrow. An interesting program has been arranged and a pleasant occasion is anticipated.

The races to come off at this place on Saturday of next week will undoubtedly attract a big crowd, as the very liberal purses hung up will insure the presence of horses that will make things interesting. The track is being well taken care of.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Glidden and their children leave to-morrow for Cedar Springs, where Mrs. G. will spend two or three weeks with her people. On Monday Mr. G. will go to Lansing to attend commencement exercises at the Agricultural college.

Mrs. A. Stewart, mother of Capt. W. E. Stewart of South Haven, died at her home in Coloma on the 28th ult. Deceased was widely known and highly esteemed among the older of our citizens, she having been for many years a resident of this village.

Are you thinking of buying a parlor suite, bedroom suite, or a set of those modern high-back dining chairs? Be sure to examine J. Ed. Phillips' stock before purchasing. His goods are of the latest styles and his prices are right. See adv. in this paper.

Selick & Co. are making sweeping reductions in the price of all lines of wet weather goods, determined to clear their counters and shelves for the reception of early fall goods. A glance at their adv. will convince you that a little money will buy a "heap" of merchandise at that house.

Never in its history has the favorite old Wolverine Pharmacy been so well stocked with everything that goes to make up the equipment of a first-class drug house as to-day, and never before in this market were the same class of goods sold so cheaply. These facts account for the greatly increased trade at that concern.

Scores of our people are out of town enjoying what little of cool breezes can be found at the various resorts in the neighborhood. Society circles are all broken up, and it would be difficult to "count a quorum" at any attempted gathering. Consequently news items are at a premium and the architect of this department is weary.

Some good races ought to be pulled off at the matinee one week from to-morrow at the Paw Paw fair grounds. Two hundreds dollars, in three purses, will be raced for, as follows: 2:50 trot or pace, purse $40; 2:35 trot, purse $60; free for all--trot or pace--purse $100. All races to be mile heats, best 3 in 5. Horses called at 2 o'clock sharp.

An unique base ball contest came off at Glendale Wednesday afternoon, a picked-up nine, none of whom had played a game in fifteen years, being pitted against the Glendale first nine, the conditions being that the "old fellows" should be credited with two runs for every one made. At this odds the game stood a tie at the end of the 9th inning--32 each.

In its proper place in this paper will be found the Republican state ticket nominated at Grand Rapids Tuesday by the largest convention which ever assembled in the state. The ticket is a strong one and will commend itself to all thoughtful men, irrespective of former party affiliation. That this ticket will be triumphantly elected in November goes without saying.

Elsewhere in this paper will be found an adv. of "Kansas farms for sale." It will be remembered that Butler county was the home of our former townsman, the late Chas. E. Galligan, and is one of the richest agricultural counties in that state. Persons desirous of investing in these rich lands will be sure to get trustworthy information regarding them by addressing "Johnnie" Galligan, who is well known to everybody in and about Paw Paw.

A lot of fellows from somewhere went over to Bloomingdale Wednesday, represented themselves as being the Paw Paw base ball team, and essayed to teach the Bloomers how to play ball. The catcher couldn't have caught a balloon on a slow trot, and the pitcher couldn't have hit a barn at close range. As for batting--why, they didn't seem to know which was the business end of the stick--these Stinerburg fellows. A peep at the tally sheet at the end disclosed this legend: "Bloomingdale, 12; those fellows, 00."

Mrs. Elmer Sirrine was joyfully surprised Wednesday morning by the arrival of her mother, Mrs. Shreve, from Denver, Col., who will spend three or four weeks here.

Will Jones, a freight brakeman on the Central who formerly lived at Lawton, was killed near Oshtemo Wednesday night. His train had been cut in two on the heavy grade, and Jones was sent back with a torpedo to signal the passenger train about due, and in some unknown manner was run down and ground to pieces.

The schooner Wren will continue on her voyage around the world, notwithstanding the mysterious disappearance of Dr. Ransom, the organizer of the expedition, not a trace of whom has been discovered since he left the Sherman house in Chicago at 6:30 Monday evening, July 16th, saying he was going to Evanston to spend the night.

Col. A. T. Bliss is made of the right kind of material, and his speech, pledging hearty support to Governor Rich and the ticket, places him before the people as a central figure for 1896. What a contrast between his loyal words and the treasonable utterances emanating from the headquarters of the disgruntled Pingree contingent! Bliss? He's all right.

Ex-Sheriff McFarlin met with a serious pecuniary loss last Sunday. Fires were raging in the woods and fields all around him, and he attempted to save his endangered buildings and stacks of grain by "back firing," but a stiff wind sprang up and the fire got beyond his control, burning twenty-seven loads of wheat and five loads of oats--too much for any one to lose in these piping hard times.

During the thunder storm of Wednesday night, lightning struck the barn of Mrs. E. G. Butler, the bolt entering at the peak of the roof at the west end, passing downward into the stall, killing the horse. "Old Ned" has been a familiar figure to our people for a good many years, and the children whom "Orn" has so often treated to rides on the delivery wagon will sadly miss the faithful old fellow.

The problem of poverty and helplessness and incapacity is studied by Mr. Charles Dudley Warner in the second instalment of "The Golden House," which appears in the August Harper's. We watch a plain, resolute little woman threading her way through the crowded and unclean streets, going about doing good, day after day--one day like another, except that every day the kaleidoscope of misery shows new combinations. The story already gives evidence of earnest effort to understand and desire to improve the conditions of life in overcrowded portions of New York city.

When will men learn that they can not make a state issue, successfully, over a real or fancied personal grievance? It has been undertaken time and again and has always failed dismally. Mayor Pingree, in the footsteps of more illustrious men than he, and aided by his discomfited friends, has learned a lesson which it would have been wise for him to have heeded before. It will be wiser for him to stop now and not allow ill advice or vanity to impel him to attempt to carry further his opposition to the success of the Republican party in Michigan, or the genuineness of his vaunted Republicanism may be seriously questioned.

Allison Holmes, a brief mention of whose death appeared in this paper last week, was born in Allegan county, N. Y., August 6, 1832. He came to Michigan in 1862, and has ever since resided in Pine Grove township, highly esteemed by all who knew him. On Monday forenoon of last week he was taken ill, and before night was unconscious and remained in that state until he breathed his last Wednesday night at ten o'clock, surrounded by his wife and children, of whom he leaves six--four sons and two daughters. The immediate cause of his death was kidney disease. The funeral was from the late home Friday afternoon, Elder Darling officiating; burial in the Robinson cemetery.

A representative of the NORTHERNER a few days since visited Marcellus and the American-Jersey breeding farm of Mr. Marvin Arnold, one mile east of that village--the home of the great "Signal" Jersey herd, at the head of which is the renowned Croton's Signal 17614, supplemented by the Duke of Marcellus 31465, Sirona Third's Bismark 35112, and Dooxy's Duke 35113. Prominent among the cows are the following, with their tests: Omeone, 18 lbs. 15 oz.; Geranium 2d, 26 lbs. 44 oz. (largest test of Signal's daughters); Aldarine, 28 lbs. 1 oz. (best daughter of Wanderer); Sirona, 21 lbs. 2 oz.; Geranium Leaf 2d, 22 lbs. 7 oz.; and sixteen others in the "charmed circle." Calves of this herd are eagerly sought by Kentucky and Missouri breeders, and at a few weeks old bring from $250 to $500. The buildings for the accommodation of this herd are models of their kind and in keeping with the magnitude of the enterprise.

Allegan Gazette: At the Van Buren county convention, delegates to the convention of this senatorial district were chosen, and Hon. J. J. Woodman introduced this resolution, which was unanimously adopted: "Resolved, That it is the sense of this convention that in all fairness Van Buren county is entitled to the nomination of the candidate to the state senate." Van Buren need not worry about that. No one wishes to get it away from her. She is one of the most patient, enduring, dear, delightful old political dames in the state, and deserves all her neighbors can give her. As we understand it, this resolution was passed because the Van Buren delegates are as yet not united upon a candidate, and there was fear that Allegan might be disposed to settle the matter by taking the plum herself. But she don't intend to do any such thing. If she must choose between Van Buren men, she will try to make a better choice than Van Buren once did when she made choice between two Allegan candidates.
